

MONTHLY SCHOOL BULLETIN – MARCH 2023

Regional School Liaison Officer for North Wales

"With Month of the Military Child coming in April, we would love to see as many schools as possible getting involved to help celebrate their Service children. In March we are posting packs to all schools who have told us they have Service children, including some goodies, flyers, resource templates and information on how your school can celebrate #MotMCCymru in 2023. If you need any advice or ideas, please don't hesitate to get in touch.

I'd also like to say a big congratulations to Ysgol Pen y Bryn in Colwyn Bay for being the first school in Wales to achieve the SILVER Armed Forces Friendly Schools \(AFFS\) Cymru award. The support they have put in place is fantastic! It would be lovely to see more schools from the North working towards their AFFS Cymru status. Please get in touch to discuss."

Participation Lead Officer

"I am delighted to share with you that through our Service children's ambassadors' network we were able to connect five Service children/young people together from two different Secondary schools in West Wales to participate in a national BBC Wales project about Service children. The filming was fun and a big thank you to Riley for his brilliantly written article, Armed forces children: Missing mum and dad - BBC News. Thanks also to our ambassadors from Haverfordwest High School's Forces Life Club, Emma, Gracie, Caden and Leo for sharing their experiences. You were all fantastic! If your school would like more information on how to start a Little Troopers or Forces Life Club to support your Service children more, then please do get in touch for more details."
