

MONTHLY SCHOOL BULLETIN – DECEMBER 2022

Regional School Liaison Officer

“We are currently recruiting for a new RSLO for South Wales. Hosted by RCTCBC, please see the job advert here. I will continue in my role as East Wales RSLO and continue to support schools in the South in the interim. Activities/training that are available as a result of the Welsh Government funding allocation for the local authorities are in the process of being planned and organised, please look out for communications about these as there are some fantastic opportunities available for schools and Service children. Activity days with Forces Fitness, Your North and the Armed Forces engagement teams, training for school staff to further support Service children, Month of the Military Child competition and Little Troopers Wellbeing courses are just some of what is available across local authorities in East Wales and it would be great to have as many schools and Service children benefit from these.”

Participation Lead Officer

“It’s been a busy month! We’ve been lucky enough to visit a few of our schools and their Little Troopers clubs. Thank you to New Inn Primary School and Mount Street Infants School; we loved painting poppies, attending your Remembrance service, and taking part in a Little Troopers well-being session with you. We thoroughly enjoyed Neath Port Talbot Council’s Forces Festival, hosted by Ysgol Cwm Brombil. It was a great success and was wonderful to see so many amazing young people being supported by their schools and the wider community. We were also able to attend the Children in Wales, Young Wales Festival 2022 and learn more about Children’s Rights, listening to children and hearing their voice. With this in mind, we will continue to support schools to ensure that Service children/young people feel valued and heard.” Jo, Joanna.wolfe@wlga.gov.uk
